to use up the appropriation, "and honest shough," interjected Mr. Tillman.

An amendment was introduced providing that relutes on tobacce and snuffixed the paid unless presented prior to April 1, 1893. The amount appropriated for the payment of the claims was thereased to ELSTO,000.

When the Aldrich financial bill was taken up Mr. Toller continued his remarks bagun yesterday. He was followed by Mr. Carmack, who replied to some newspaper citticisms of a recent speech by him on the subject of murders in the Philippines. The paper had referred to some of Mr. Carmack's remarks regarding the army as "atroclous." Mr. Carmack said he had been misquoted, and rollerated his former statements that prisoners of war had been murdered in the Fhilippines, and said they had ground unanswered. During the course of the day the conference reports on the fortifications appropriation bil and the Alaskan homestead bill were agreed to.

The immigration and conference.

After a brief executive asselon the Senate at 6 o'clock took a recess until 8 o'clock.

A bill was passed to provide for the appointment of a district judge for the western judicial district of South Carolina. The conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill was asked to. The Aldrich bill was taken up. Mr. Mallovy, of Florida, offered an amendment providing that national banking associations shall reserve deposits of public money separate and apart from other monies, and an interest rate on loans not exceeding 4 per nent, shall be charged.

Mr. McLaurin, of Mississippi, wanted a bill passed, whereupon Mr. Aldrich remarked that as it was a Senate bill, it could not possibly become a law.

"Isn't this bill we are considering a Senate bill?" inquired Mr. McLaurin. "Yes," said Mr. Aldrich, "and I hope it will become a law."

This brought Mr. Morgan to his feet, who said the little colloquy had made an immense revolution of what was going on in the Senate to-night.

"There is evidently any arrangement made by which this is to be passed through the House under a rule for its consideration, and there is nobody in that House, particularly a Democrat, who will be permitted to have a word to say about it. It is an object losson," he said, "and shows that the bill does not stand on the same footing as other legislation." The bill, he said, was a most dangerous measure.

At this point Mr. Morgan remarked upon the fact that Mr. Aldrich was smilling and said it might be due to the information he had, or his ismorance on the subject. "I was smilling," said Mr. Aldrich, "because the Senator did not refer to the Panama Canal."

"That is not connected with a finance bill," retorted Mr. Morgan, "except the stealing part of it, which is in Paris and we have no control over it."

The conference report on the immigration bill was agreed to.

Continuing his remarks, Mr. Morgan attacked the trusts and said they were arrogant institutions. He said they were arrogant instit them. He said he admired the generosity of the Secretary of the Treasury in flying to the relief of these people. "It is American patriotism."

Mr. Morgan spoke for nearly two hours. He was followed by Mr. Molkaurin, of Mississippi, who said he was curious to know upon what Mr Ealley, of Texas, based his support of the bill.

"It was based," replied Mr. Balley, "on the vague and undefined hope that the Democratic party would some time obtain control of this government again, and only on that."

Mr. McLaurin said the Republican party had made a number of pidges and kept none of them. It was a party which stands for trusts, and was the party which had not allowed a vote on the statehood or Littlefield anti-trust bill NO CHANCE FOR IT.

Mr. Balley after replying to some further statements of Mr. McLaurin, gave expression to his views on the subject of fillbustering.

"I will say to the author of this bill," said he, "that he might as well withfraw it."

He said there was no more chance for to pass the Senate than there was for

He said there was no more chance for it to pass the Senate than there was for he statehood bill to rise out of its shalow grave and become a law.

Mr. Tillman was recognized and conrulsed the Senate by saying "that the more attention of the property of the contraction of the control of the control of the most astute politician in the United states, and that is Matthew Stanley Duay."

"Then the Senator from Pennsylvania has been buncoed by the Senator from Rhode Island," remarked Mr. Tillman, causing renewed laughter.

Mr. Adirich said he know that it was apparent that Senators who were intending to talk the financial bill to death were doing so because he and others who thought with him assisted in defeating another measure, the statehood bill. "They are trying to punish us and punish the country," he said.

Mr. Carmack contended that it was legitimate to adopt obstructive tactics at this late day on a bill of such importance.

At 11:55 P. M. the Senate adjourned until 11 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. Garber read a speech in which his

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

To Prove What Swamp-Root, the Great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy Will do for YOU, Every Reader of The Times-Dispatch May Have a Sample Bottle Sent FREE by Mail.

DR. KILMER & CO., Binghamton, N. Y.:

Gentlemen—My trouble began with pain in my stomach and back, so severe that it seemed as if knives were cutting me. I was treated by two of the best physicians in the county and consulted another. None of them suspected that the cause of my trouble was kidney disease. They all told me that I had cancer of the stomach, and would die. I grew so weak that I could not walk any more than a child a month old, and I only weighed ninety pounds. One day my brother saw in a paper an article about Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy. He bought me a bottle at our drug store and I took it. My family could see a change in me, for the better, so they obtained more and I continued the use of Swamp-Root regularly. I was so weak and run down that it took considerable time to build me up again. I am now well, thanks to Swamp-Root, and weigh 148 pounds and am keeping house for my husband and brother. Swamp-Root cured me after the doctors had failed to do me a particle of good.

Women suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood; in many cases when doctoring, they are led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for their ills, when in fact disordered kidneys are the chief cause of their distressing troubles.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. A trial will convince anyone—and you may have a sample bottle sent free, by mail.

was not handcuffed, and was treated with consideration. The court room was crowded.

Before the arraignment he sat chatting with the officers. He was talkative and told the story of how a horse kicked him on the head when he was five years old. He were a neat brown suit, brought by his sister, Mrs. Sadie Wenzel, of Cincinnati, and a white shirt and collar. He was clean shaven and looked far better than ever before. No lawyer accompanied him, and Mrs. Wenzel was the only member of his family present. Knapp said his sister was sticking to him, because she thought he was crazy. Knapp made known what his preliminary plea would be to Mrs. Wenzel, with whom he had a long conference in the county jall.

Knapp stood up as Police Clerk Weber read the affidavit, charring him with choking Hanua Goddard, wife No. 3, to death. Mr. F Bosch explained to the prisoner his rights, and asked him to plead "not guilty." Asked if he wished a preliminary hearing. Knapp said: "I suppose I might as well."

Mrs. Wenzel site he would arrange for counsel. Knapp was taken back to the jall as quieur as he left it.

Mrs. Wenzel ster a long private talk with Mayor Bosch, followed the prisoner to the jall and there had another confidential talk with him, after which she left for Cincinnati to secure the services of an attorney.

"I'd wash my hands of Alfred if I did not know that he is insane." she said. "But now I cannot desert him."

Judge Crump was elected chairman, and the selections of Messrs. Upshur and Williams, already agreed upon, were confirmed.

Beyond going through these formalities, nothing was done, and the body adjourned to meet at noon on March oth, when the bill putting the body into active operation will probably have become law.

At this meeting an assistant clerk and stenographer will be chosen, and doubtless much other business of a routine nature will be disposed of.

So far the commission has only superseded the Railroad Commissioner, and until the next meeting will do littly more than perform the limited functions of that office. A great volume of business from various other of the State departments will then devolve upon the commission, along with the varied other duties fixed by the Constitution.

Some of those who witnessed the formal organization of the commission yesterday, which by the way consumed only a few moments, were; Judge Rt. H. Cardwell, Cantain Frank P. Bront, Messra, D. A. Ritchle, Eam Shield, W. Stuart Jones, H. M. Tyler, E. G. Akers and General James C. Hill.
